STROLL THROUGH LGBTQ BUTTON HISTORY

These buttons from the private collections of LGBTQ advocates Robert Castillo, Nancy Katz, and the late Marie J. Kuda date from the 1960s to the 2000s. Buttons have traditionally been a way for members of the community to wear their politics and make visual statements about the issues they care about. Walk down button memory lane with the Chicago Reader and Windy City Times this Pride Month.